A Classic Holidays Resort

Property Policies & Additional Info

If you're thinking about staying here, there are some things you may want to review before you go. We work diligently with the resorts to ensure the information is the most current we have for the resort location. However, there may be times where we have gaps in the most current information so we encourage you to review the room directories or ask the on-site concierge or front desk staff to ensure everything we have listed is still current and in effect.
